

Erin Morrow - Bio

Erin is a graduate of Ohio State University, and has founded various health, wellness and analytic companies, as well as the non-profit organization, Wellness Wishes, in 2011. Since its inception, Wellness Wishes has prided itself on providing programs and initiatives that embody a holistic and health-centric environment. In 2018, Wellness Wishes added the internal funding vehicle Funding Advisors Claims Recovery program to its portfolio. This program is a way to fund Wellness Wishes programming tapped to roll out in 2019 and beyond. All programming can be rolled under one or multiple areas of impact: Underserved Areas in Healthcare, Veterans, First Responders, and Conservation & Education. In addition to the Claims Recovery program funding these great efforts, it's also assisting healthcare and emergency response organizations generate much-needed revenue for not just themselves, but also their foundations, philanthropic partners and community enrichment projects; as well as other non-profits. Erin's background and expertise ensures value for these healthcare organizations while changing lives in the communities in which they reside. Erin lives in Columbus, Ohio with her husband, two beautiful daughters and two rescue kitties.
